By now you’ve received Julie Galli’s exhortation to book your rooms in Baltimore. I’m adding whatever influence I can muster to have you join us for IPMAAC 2003 annual conference.

I realize that many of you are in situations where your agency will not financially support training or travel. I’m hoping that conference attendance is important enough to consider paying your own way. As Microsoft used to say to its employees, “We don’t guarantee you employment, but we guarantee you will be employable.” Where else but IPMAAC can you obtain state-of-the-art tools, developments, and information necessary to maintain your professional cutting edge? And if the worst case happens, where else but the IPMAAC annual conference can you network with assessment professionals who are aware of opportunities? And I guess my last argument is to invite you to share stories, woeful or gleeful, over cosmopolitans in the Presidential Suite. I hope you make it to Baltimore.

On a lighter – but actually scarier – note, Minnesota has done it again! You remember us, the state with the goofy governor? Well, Ventura is history but the goofiness isn’t over.

Our legislature and governor has just enacted the Minnesota Citizens’ Personal Protection Act of 2003. In a nutshell, this bill allows individuals to conceal and carry a pistol or other firearm anywhere except where specifically prohibited by statute. Where is that, you might ask? Well, interestingly, one place it is not permissible to prohibit is the parking facility or parking area of any private establishment. You think that’s crazy? Another place where, by statute, handguns are permissible is sports facilities. So, without being sexist about it, women’s purses are searched upon entering the Metrodome (football Vikings and baseball Twins). If bottled water is discovered, it is confiscated. However, handguns are perfectly o.k. Our governor claims it will make people safer. And this isn’t the goofy governor, this is a Republican.

Stay tuned, who knows what will happen by the time we meet in Baltimore.—ACN

I/O Solutions is focused on public safety selection. As the nation’s leading public safety human resources consulting firm, our consultants have developed, implemented and validated assessment programs for over 1,000 public safety agencies, located in over 40 of the 50 states and Canada. These programs include promotional, entry-level and physical-ability examinations for police, corrections and fire departments.

Professional I/O Solutions’ consultants work hand-in-hand with some of the largest public safety agencies in the nation to customize state-of-the-art selection systems. Our training as psychologists and psychometricians, coupled with our knowledge of the public safety human resources field, means that we come to your agency already knowing what many of our competitors have to learn on your time.

I/O Solutions brings you…

- extensive public safety selection knowledge and experience
- a dedicated team of professional, trained psychologists and psychometricians
- a comprehensive choice of up-to-date examinations and assessment vehicles
- fully customized job-analysis and selection programs

Many of our public safety clients came to us while struggling to meet the demands of the federal government. Developing solutions for them has made us keenly aware of the steps that must be taken to ensure the validity, reliability, fairness and defensibility of every examination process.

In addition to our customized examination programs, I/O Solutions also offers a full line of off-the-shelf testing, including the following:

- National Criminal Justice Officer Selection Inventory (NCJOSI)
- National Firefighter Selection Inventory (NFSI)
- Law Enforcement Supervisor I and II
- Fire Service Supervisor I and II
- And more...

Our success is measured by our ability to enhance your performance. The reason we fulfill this promise is simple—we consistently earn our clients’ trust. We would be honored to serve your agency.

Exploring New Horizons in Assessment
The 16PF® Leadership Coaching Report (LCR) guides the leadership participant through this critical first step and builds an individualized developmental action plan. The LCR is a coach’s tool that:

- Compares personal behavioral style with successful leaders
- Identifies personal gifts and limits
- Proposes strategies to enhance strengths
- Provides concrete suggestions to develop leadership skills

A strong complement to 360° feedback, the LCR assesses the personality characteristics that define the participant’s leadership style to facilitate self-understanding, growth, and development.

About the ACN

The ACN is the official newsletter of the International Public Management Association Assessment Council, an association of individuals actively engaged in or contributing to the professional, academic and practical field of personnel research and assessment. The Council has approximately 700 members.

The ACN is published six times a year during the even months of the year. It serves as a source of information about significant activities of the council, a medium of dialogue and information exchange among members, a method for dissemination of research findings and a forum for the publication of letters and articles of general interest.

Submissions for Publication: Assessment Council members and others with letters or articles of interest are encouraged to submit materials for review and publication. Submission deadline for the next issue is:
- August: July 3
- October: September 5
- December: October 31

Articles and information for inclusion in the sections (News of the Councils, Technical Affairs, Public Sector Practice Exchange) should be submitted directly to the Associate Editor responsible for the appropriate section. Submissions may also be made to the Editor.

If you have questions or need further information please contact the Editor, Associate Editors, or IPMA.
