They say the flow of time appears relative; the older you become, the quicker time seems to move. Well, I’m here to tell you that I must be ancient because time is just zipping by. As I write this article, we are just 36 days away from this year’s conference. By the time you read this, we will be just a few weeks away. See? Time does fly! I hope I get everything done that needs to be done.

Conference
This is our 30th year and we have all been working hard to make this one of our best conferences ever. I hope you have made plans to join us. If you have, I really look forward to seeing you there. If you haven’t made plans, it is not too late to join us. Please check out the conference information through IPMAAC Online! at ipmaac.org and make your plans to come to the conference. Between the conference program, the social events, and the city, I’m sure everyone will have a profitable trip.

Webinars
If you just can’t join us in Las Vegas, you can still join us for some of Monday’s sessions via the Web. We are offering four sessions as Webinars. The four sessions are:

Dr. Paul Sackett’s Keynote Address on Measuring and Predicting Counterproductive Work Behavior
This session will provide an overview of issues in conceptualizing and measuring counterproductive work behavior (CWB), discuss the relationship between CWB and other facets of job performance, address the long-standing debate over the role of personal and situational factors as determinants of CWB, describe a range of approaches to the use of integrity tests as a job applicant screening device for predicting CWB, and evaluate the research evidence on the use of integrity tests.

Biodata Scale Validity: How Do We Know How Well It’s Working?
This presentation will discuss some of the kinds of biodata scales that can be evaluated, criteria and correlates associated with biodata measures, and other considerations in evaluating the effectiveness of biodata measures for selection.

2006 Legal Update
This session will discuss the current state of employment law generally, and will take a detailed look at recent administrative and case law, as well as judicial trends affecting personnel assessments. It will also discuss the proposed and final definitions issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) regarding who is an “Internet Applicant” for purposes of federal reporting, recordkeeping, and compliance with anti-discrimination provisions.

Succession Planning: Identifying & Developing High Potential Leadership Talent

This tutorial discusses the Georgia Merit System’s model of succession planning and the automated tools and support offered to her customer agencies. It addresses the concepts of leadership levels, the demands of each level, and capacity to meet those demands. It highlights the assessment of bench strength and other pre- and post-measures of succession planning success.

For more information, follow the conference link at ipmaac.org, click on “2006 Annual Conference,” and then click on the link for additional information available from IPMA-HR. The deadline for signing up for the Webinars is June 21st. It is the next best thing to being there.

Student Paper Competition

Lee Friedman has done another excellent job with the University Liaison/Student Paper Committee. This year’s award winner is Rustin Meyer, a graduate student in Industrial/Organizational Psychology at Purdue University. His paper, Situational Moderators of the Conscientiousness-Performance Relationship: An Interactional Meta-Analysis, will be presented at this year’s conference (another reason to attend). Rustin’s paper was selected from an outstanding group of submitted papers through the hard work of our academic (Mike Aamodt, Mike Agars, Dennis Doverspike, and Corey Miller) and practitioner (Ilene Gast, Elliot Lasson, Stephen Magel, and Mike Willihnganz) reviewers. We thank them for their work. Special thanks also go to Elizabeth Kirkland, Publication Manager for IPMA-HR, for her assistance in announcing the competition. We will have a copy of Rustin’s paper available online at ipmaac.org following the conference.

Monograph
Thanks to the dedicated work of Dennis Doverspike, Chair of the Professional & Scientific Affairs Committee, and the generosity of Paul Kaiser (for printing), we now have available IPMAAC’s first monograph in a number of years. The monograph title is Situational Judgment Tests in Personnel Assessment. It was authored by Michael A. McDaniel, Deborah L. Whetzel, and Nhung T. Nguyen. Thanks also go to Leilani Yan for editing and to the editorial reviewers: Dennis Joiner, Harry Brull, Mike Aamodt, and Einfred Arthur, Jr. Copies of the monograph will be provided at the conference to attendees and will be mailed to IPMAAC members who are unable to attend the conference later this summer. Thanks to all for a great product, with hopes for more monographs in the future.

Board Meeting
The IPMAAC Board of Directors will be meeting on Sunday, June 25. If you have any matters that need to be brought to the Board’s attention, please contact me or another Board member. The Board exists to serve the needs of the organization and the membership. Your input is critical to our doing a good job and the health of our organization. A report on the Board meeting and other business items will be made at the Business Meeting in Las Vegas on Tuesday, June 27, at 1:30 PST. Hope you will be there.

Again, hope to see you at the conference. If you can’t be there, please consider joining us for the session on Monday via the Web. The next issue of the ACN will also contain a report on this year’s conference.

As always, I welcome any suggestions or assistance that you are willing to offer. I look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas! —AACCNN
